Perry Rocks!

Have you stumbled across a painted rock in an unexpected place recently? “Kindness rocks” are finding their way into communities around the United States. The happily painted rocks are a low-key way for folks to pay it forward.

Perry even has a Facebook group devoted to painting and hiding rocks. You can find them on Facebook under “Perry, OK Rocks!” They ask if you find one that you love to keep it & paint 1 or 2 more to hide for others to keep it going.

If you’d like to try your hand at creating your own Kindness rock, stop by the Library on Thursday,

July was National Ice Cream Month! Each of our younger patrons was given the opportunity to color a scoop of ice cream to add to our GIANT ice cream

August 24th @ 2:00 p.m.

We’ll be hosting a rock painting party.

You’re welcome to bring your own supplies, or feel free to use some of ours! This program is for adults, but we’ll have coloring sheets and legos set up for moms with children!
